4 October, rally and march, Manchester

The 'short, sharp shock' of austerity we were promised by the Conservatives continues into its sixth year with no sign of ending.

And those who keep our vital public services running have been on the sharpest and most shocking end of it: pay freezes, cuts, redundancies and restructuring have become the daily grind.

And now the Trade Union Bill seeks to silence your union when we speak up for you – and is threatening your right to strike.

Join us in Manchester on 4 October on the first day of the Conservative Party conference to make your voice heard.

March against austerity. March for workers' rights!

- 12 noon Assemble Oxford Road (from All Saints Park, southwards)
- 1pm Rally
- 1.30pm March through city.
